

three generations of one family now neighbours at

Harrington Grove

The Vidlers enjoy living at Harrington Grove so much that now three generations of their family are living there. Residing in two homes in Araucaria and a third in Maculata, all live within two minutes from each others' places and a short walk to the Country Club.

While Deborah and Max Vidler are awaiting completion of their Clarendon home at Maculata precinct, which should be ready towards the end of the year, they will be staying with son Robert and his wife Kim at their Araucaria precinct home, which they moved into about a year ago. Two streets away, also in Araucaria, live Robert's sister Kristie, her husband and their three children, who have recently relocated from Queensland. The family members also work together in the family business M & D Plastics Pty Ltd, soon to be based at Smeaton Grange, which will be very convenient for all of them.

Moving from Wattle Grove, it was the lifestyle, the great community and the scenic surrounds of Harrington Grove that appealed to Deborah - as well as being near her family. She is looking forward to meeting new friends and neighbours at Harrington Grove and is enjoying seeing the community grow.

"We have enjoyed the cocktail parties and met quite a few people already. The Christmas party at the Country Club is fantastic and all the barbeques are great fun. There is a terrific community spirit and we are seeing lots of young families coming here all the time. My daughter and her family have met people around the pool and my son and son-in-law have both joined the golf club," says Deborah.

Robert and wife Kim moved to Harrington Grove a year ago shortly after they married. Robert works in the family business and Kim is completing her studies to become a primary school teacher. Kim grew up in the Camden area which is how Robert became acquainted with, and fell in love with the area.

"The cocktail parties are a great way to meet new neighbours and we've also met more people through the golf club, which plays a different golf course once a month. There are players of all standards in the club. Earlier this year there was a great night at the Country Club watching the State of Origin which Community Manager Tina organised. The Community team at Harrington Grove is always happy to help organise events such as these, which is another good way of getting to know other residents," says Robert.

Each of the family is enjoying different aspects of living at Harrington Grove. All however agree that the sense of community, the great facilities at the Country Club and the picturesque setting add up to a great lifestyle for their families.

boyd art gallery